Monsummano Alto is the hill close to Monsummano Terme town. It is a hot spot of biodiversity and a middle age village almost completely abandoned. The tour will rise the hill to the very top and it needs good legs. It's not a difficult trail, but the rising part of the way is a bit hart to do. It's an interesting tour due to the particular flora that grow here, like many wild orchids (that flowers between March and April), and due to the ruins of Middle Age walls and towers.

The trail is almost completely on dirty road, with gravel and stones. The group will rise the hill on foot and will reach the very top. On the top there is the ancient abandoned village and its ruins. The group will descent the hill again in order to come back visiting old quarries and their fauna.

The trail needs hiking boots, personal water and to be in good physical shape.
